Note: The above information will be automatically processed to ensure your receipt of services from ICOM and will also be transmitted to third parties (i.e. International Committees). In conformity with the French law on Informatics & Civil Liberties (Jan. 6, 1978, rev.) you have the right of access and to modify the information that concerns you.

INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEES

ICOM members are encouraged to join a range of special ICOM interest groups known as International Committees. See website: <http://icom.museum/the-committees/international-committees/>

Institutional members can appoint representatives as voting members on three International Committees. These representatives can also choose to receive information from an additional three International Committees without voting rights.

By joining an International Committee:

- You will receive up-to-date news from the International Committee, and have access to their publications and newsletters
- You may participate in their annual meetings and other activities, with preferential rates.
- You may participate in the discussions among colleagues of the International Committee.
- You can take part in joint activities organised with other ICOM International Committees, ICOM National Committees and other organisations.
- You can join the special interest or working groups of some International Committees.

Please indicate in order of preference which International Committees you'd like to join as a voting member (1-3) and others which interest you as a non-voting member (5-6):
